

Anna knows what's written on the bottle can be as important as what's in it.

Every year, 1.5 million Americans get sick from medication errors—improper doses, dangerous interactions between medicines, allergic reactions.
So be sure to:

Double-check your medication when you pick it up from the pharmacy—to see that it's the medicine and dose your doctor ordered. If you have any questions, speak to the pharmacist.

Keep an up-to-date list of current medications: your kids', your parents', your spouse's, your own. Always keep a copy with you in your purse or wallet.
